Gadding About by Reverend Jan

I write this in the last days of 2020, a year for which our country, and many around the world, experienced tremendous violence, grief, fear, isolation, natural disasters, and losses of all kinds. And, babies were born, gardens were harvested, birds sang, the sun rose and set each day in beauty and splendor. We witnessed people being kind, helpful, and making tremendous sacrifices for the good of the many. We are still experiencing the aftermath of a contentious and difficult election, with the last of the votes yet to be cast and counted. Will the senate race in Georgia bring another round of challenges, recounts, and court cases? Will there be a smooth transition of power on January 20? Much is unknown, as always. And, the first round of vaccines for the Novel Coronavirus-2019 are making their way to leaders, health care workers, senior living centers, and others with the greatest risk. This offers real, active hope that the pandemic will be contained sometime in 2021 and we can begin to imagine our coming together again.

Your wise Board of Trustees have determined that we need to continue to offer our worship services and programs virtually through May 2021 in order to ensure that we are most inclusive and safe in our gatherings. We may have opportunities to have one-time activities safely outside when the weather begins to warm in March. Your Board of Trustees will continue to consider this and other possibilities for small outdoor activities until we can all be together again safely inside. In addition, we continue to invite people to assist with sprucing up the grounds, and we'll have a few people inside over the next few months working on projects to get the place ready for our return next summer.

Our theme in January is Imagination. Your Shared Ministry Council continues to imagine the possibilities for our congregation to live fully into our vision as a radically welcoming sanctuary in a green space, fostering spiritual growth as we joyfully nurture connections and community within our walls and beyond. For instance, the Gwinnett Interfaith Alliance continues to meet, and is now offering monthly programs for Gwinnett County residents to gather for prayer vigils, panels discussions, and other activities. Watch your e-news and our Facebook group for information about these events.

Imagine with us the possibilities for what we can do together to learn, grow, and serve. Soon we will offer another round of registrations for the Transgender Inclusion in Congregations program, and we are reviewing resources for training in antiracism and dismantling white supremacy culture and systems for us to engage with this spring. I imagine a large number of people in the congregation engaging in this work this spring in preparation for opening our doors with an expanded circle of welcome come summer.

Your Lay Ministers are available to assist you in finding ways to engage in congregational life. It takes all of us to lead, follow, attend, participate, engage, and share as we strive towards our vision. You can email sharedministry@uucg.org to ask about ways to serve and connect.

With love and gratitude...

Reverend Jan

Covenant Groups Nurture Meaningful Connections

Are you seeking an additional way of being present with our Beloved Community? Covenant Groups may provide the opportunity you are looking for!

What are Covenant Groups? Small groups of eight to ten people who meet for two hours, twice a month for eight meetings; creating a sacred space, exploring our monthly themes, listening and talking together. Each person is given uninterrupted time to share stories and find meaning from their own experiences. Trained, experienced facilitators are a part of every group meeting.

Why should I join a Covenant Group? We create a sacred space to focus our attention away from the cares of the present, leave the past behind, and let the future wait a couple of hours. We express a form of "radical hospitality" by giving each other our full attention without interruption, judgment, or advice.

When we listen, we focus completely on the personal journeys of our "fellow travelers."

When we speak, we are empowered to be vulnerable, to open our hearts, and to share our personal story. In accordance with the Congregation and Group Covenants, our "fellow travelers" listen with anticipation and appreciation. Our personal stories are held in confidence by the group. Talking and listening together about our interests and passions helps both "new" and "old" members connect with and understand all that our Beloved Community has to offer them. The experience of speaking the truth about our personal experiences can empower us to listen to the stories of others.

Who can join? Newcomers, long-time members and everyone in between benefit from these small groups. It's a great way to build connections within our beloved community as people engage in deep and meaningful conversations based on our monthly themes.

I'm ready! How do I sign up? You can register online. Check the "Covenant Group" box and all of the sessions will appear. Scroll down to select the meeting time that works best for you.

New Year's Blessings from the Board

PHEWW!!! What a year. I don't know about you, but I'm feeling a bit of whiplash. The waxing post-solstice light coincides perfectly with the coming of a new government and a new vaccine. There is promise, at last, of a brighter future. In our house, the promise is punctuated even more by the arrival of the newest UUCG baby (third since pandemic – fifth if you count 2 toddler foster adoptions). I just dropped big sister Rowan off at her house to meet little Linden Elva Harris. Life moves on.

UUCG has made it through this tumultuous year and has come out stronger than ever. We have discovered that we're still a strong community, that we've still got each other's backs, even when we're physically apart. Due to your generosity, we are starting 2021 on solid financial footing. Behind the scenes, a newly-formed outreach/public relations team is planning a campaign to attract and welcome a new wave of congregants. We're hammering down policies and procedures to make our governance and communication run more smoothly. A new Vice President, Ed Miller, has joined the board to complete the current term. We maintain these efforts in order to experience their fruits as we reunite in person later this year.

With each new year, many of us make resolutions. We challenge ourselves to improve. This year, rather than striving for better and more, how about we congratulate ourselves on the basics? This year, maybe we promise simply to examine our lives and thank the cosmos for the things that get us through. From a place of gentleness and gratitude, how about we offer more of those things to our community – both that of UUCG and of the wider world. How about we offer kindness, forgiveness, “family,” and grace to those who need it a little more. Let us also learn how to ask for help, trusting that together we have everything we need. Extend yourself, softly, to a neighbor, to the grocer, to your care ring, to yourself.

Blessings for a knowing and comforting New Year.

-----Lorena Griffin for the UUCG Board of Trustees
